THE BRIGHTER SIDE of LEARNING and RESPECT

The Sea of Learning Pre School prides itself on keeping on top of all requirements, guidelines and standards associated with the care and education of our little ones.

Respecting a child's needs and instilling their respect for others is one of the first key elements for early child development and success.

We don't jump on fads and flashes of passing beliefs on what is believed to work.

We hold true to those institutions and organizations that have proven themselves over time.

A Beka Curriculum:
Open Court Reading Program

Teaching

to Preschoolers

Creative Curriculum features exploration and discovery as a way of learning, enabling children to develop confidence, creativity, and critical thinking skills and yes respect.

Our staff are certified and adopt a well versed review and develop great interpersonal relations with each child as an individual. Only through recognizing the needs and demands each child demonstrates can we best tailor a personalized baseline and goal orientated education and care program that will help foster success at a young age that will follow them into their future.

We can best respect your children and ours by demonstrating respect for their needs. They are our most valuable asset in life.

Safety

Yes, Summer is here and we are going to focus all the attention we must on the safety and wellbeing of the children.
